

A TREE TO A BUILDING

Here Sir!
Know you my stature?
I know yours!

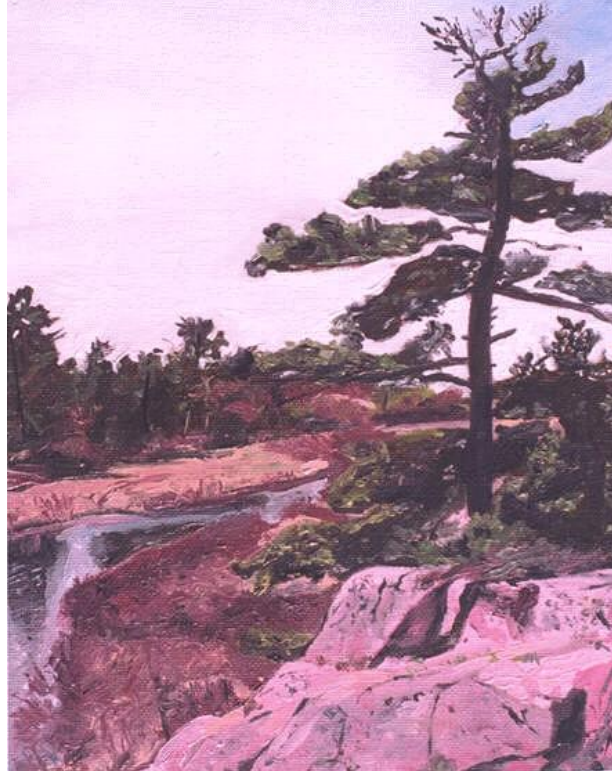

Solid state
you contemplate
with sharp angles and unbroken lines.

Fierce in a storm
a Titan at war
glory (or calamity) is born.

Your gleam disguises your glitter
with broad stroked landscapes of glass.

Inside your walls
run secretive walls
whispering,
knowledge, commerce - life!
Delusions of grandeur
All!

But you must be kind to me
for my brawn is the stuff of your innards
I hold your soul together Sir
and give you the strength to sing.

Description

All environments people inhabit, or are influenced by, are energized by spirit. It is the human interaction with these environments that determines whether they support and nurture the human condition or denigrate it.
